Indians On War Path

Like a page from a paper of the early days we read the P. I. of the 18th with the following story of an Indian outbreak.

SANTA FE, N. M. Nov. 17.—Fifteen hundred Navajo Indians rallied in defense of eight rene-gades, and are reported in armed encampment on beautiful mountain thirty-five miles southwest of the Ship Rock agency, defying United States Marshall Hudspeth to take prisoner the renegades, who are wanted on federal warrants charging horse stealing, assault and bigamy.

Two troops of cavalry have been asked for by the marshal, and the request has been referred by the war department to Maj. Gen. Carter, in command of border patrol.

One Day Early

As our paper day comes on Thanksgiving we are therefore publishing one day early, which is accountable for the shortcomings of this issue.

"The Grotto of Torture" a feature of the season, having a run of a full week at the Clemmer in Seattle, is coming to the Rink. Watch for the hand bills.

John Grant Jr. Hurt By Sled

Master John Grant was very painfully injured last Sunday while standing on the walk near Patenaude's Barber Shop watching the boys who were coasting down the hill, when one of the sleds struck him knocking him down. He was carried to the hotel and the doctor called, and was unconscious for nearly two hours. He is much improved today and will be able to get out again in a few days.

Big Masquerade Ball Tonight

Don't forget the Big Masquerade Ball tonight at Red Men's Hall. A good time assured to all.

Garnet Ledge To Build Tram Road

The garnet ledge was in receipt of a shipment of steel rails and a Tram car on the last Dolphin. The company is working on the construction of a half mile of track at the mine and will have the work finished before spring.

If you want to see a good show go to Benders Picture Show.

Co-operative Co. Makes Changes

Fred Bevier, President. J. H. McGehee, Secretary & Manager. Pat Heines, of Ketchikan, Albert Peterson of Juneau, and S. N. Harvey, Geo. Card and G. E. Britton of Wrangell.

Cordova Passes Wrangell Up

The Cordova which was scheduled for Wrangell last Tuesday, passed us by for some unknown reason. She was first reported to take the run of the Dolphin but will make the present trip to the westward first.

School Entertainment Friday Evening

Boosting For Wrangell

As with an individual, so with a city or community, if they would prosper there must be harmony among the different organs of the body, as well as of the different organs of society and each cell to make the body a complete whole, must work for the good of all.

In giving precedence to the head as in city government or the government of the individual, in order that the head may wisely direct the different branches of society, it must be encouraged and sustained in its efforts.

The work of the council this year has been of very much good towards the improvement of our city, yet there is a large field for operation.

A. J. Kalkins Sells Sled Dog

A. J. Kalkins sold one of his dog team "Tommy" to a passenger on the Alameda bound for White Horse from where he will mush on down the river. The sale price of the dog was $50. which is considered very reasonable when compared with the price of good dogs in the interior where they are selling as high as $100.

Marshal Faulkner Wrangell Visitor

United States Marshal H. L. Faulkner has spent the past week in town on official business. Marshal Faulkner states that as yet he has received no word of the appointment of C. F. Cheek or any one else as marshal, but that in all probability some one will be soon.

Ludwig Berg Fish Broker

Ludwig Berg who is known to most everyone in Wrangell is now a full fledged fish broker having offices at 504-7 American Bank Bld. Seattle. From all reports Ludwig has a good run of business.

Capt. Cann is Pilot On S. S. Spokane

Capt. Harry Cann, Jr. hero of the State of California wreck, was in town last evening as pilot of the Pacific Coast company's liner Spokane, which arrived from Seattle at 8 p. m. Capt. Cann recently took the steamship Senator on her last round-trip voyage to Nome from Seattle.

The Spokane is under command of Capt. Charles H. White. The vessel has the majority of her old crew this trip, with Freight Clerk L. J. Coughlin, Pilot E. Nystrom and Mail Clerk Andrews.

Card Of Thanks

In behalf of his father, brothers and sisters, I wish to express our deep gratitude to the Wrangell friends of my late brother, Ulysses Grant Henry, for their kindness and devotion to him at his unfortunate death.

The grief occasioned by his loss, is lessened much in the knowledge that he died among friends that were loyal, devoted and true to the end. May God bless you all. Bertha M. Stafford. (nee Henry) 1740 Bellve Ave. Seattle, Wash.

Live here and work here, buy here and sell here, that's the way to make the Town bigger, better and brighter.

W. D. Grant Appointed Deputy

W. D. Grant has been appointed Deputy U. S. Marshal for Wrangell to take the office made vacant by the resignation of Marshal Schnabel. Mr. Grant is well known to everyone in Wrangell so needs no introduction to our readers or the office as he held the position for a number of years.

R. C. Bazar Great Success

The Bazar held by the ladies of the local Catholic Church on Thursday evening at the Redmen's Hall was a great success.

The attractions were new and afforded great amusement for those who desired to try their luck. The fish pond presided over by Mrs. H. L. Campbell and Miss Schefstad filled the wants of both young and old. Sol LaBounty was there when it came to the game of throwing at the nigger, "three balls for ten cents, soak him and you get half a dollar." Sold a land office business. There were other attractions such as raffles and throwing the rings which added to the financial side of the affair. The fancy booth presided over by mesdames Bronson and La Bounty and Miss Lovejoy was well patronized, the articles sold were both beautiful and useful. "Eplers Cafeteria" was in full swing and served everything in the line of "good eats." The Misses Calkins, Bihler and Bronson conducted the "Palace of Sweets" and enjoyed a brisk business during the entire evening.

The music furnished by local talent was much enjoyed and dancing continued to the wee small hours.

The superior construction of the MONARCH is such that waste of heat is impossible. Every particle of fuel is consumed and the heat held captive until it does its full duty. The same splendid economical service which the MONARCH gives when new is retained through years and years of hard continuous use. That's why it's called the "Stay Satisfactory Range." The fuel economy of the MONARCH is economies in time and labor. Drudgery is replaced by pleasure, the housewives duties are rendered lighter—her results are better. A MONARCH will pay for itself over and over again in the saving of fuel and, as interest on the investment, will provide real cooking comfort for many, many years.

We recommend the MONARCH as we have every confidence that it will make good all our claims as it has always done.

Thanksgiving

Once more a young and mighty nation pauses a moment in its noisy toil to give thanks for its manifold blessings and sing its harvest song. Since the first man dug for roots in the perilous forest with his little ineffective stones, and raised his voice in an ecstasy of gratitude to some unseen giver of food, man has gathered his family about him and given thanks for the harvest. As we stand in our public places and sit about our board, let us be grateful first and last and beyond all else that we have bread to eat. The crops are at the bottom of the nation's prosperity; its wealth, its learning, its art, its virtue depend on its food supply. Few men can be good or useful if they are hungry; no nation can be happy if the harvest fails. There is no army of defenders like the tillers of the soil, no public servant like the farmer. He stands as the gods of our ancestors and makes our truce with nature. Whether he plows his stony fields or rides his mowing machine over the limitless prairies; directs his darkies on the old plantation, or guides the water on to the Western apple ranch, he is, in all of us, the nearest God, for he is the ultimate creator. This year the harvest is the largest in the history of the country; the crop is the best the world has ever seen. Well may we thank the God of our fathers and His faithful human husbandmen for the blessing of which no war can deprive us, which no politics can impair, no sadness mitigate. For the year to come we shall have the foundation of all happiness. We shall have bread to eat.

The year 1913 has been an eventful one in many ways and we, even in Alaska have much to be thankful for, so let us unite and all unite to make this a real Thanksgiving Day.

Dignity of Senatorial Visiting.
There is something impressive in the way one senator generally calls on another in the office building at Washington. A repressive dignity precludes the old time free and easy method of "dropping in to see Tom" or Jim or Jack—kicking in the door and sitting down on the table or desk and "smoking up" without invitation. Today there is a sedate step, measured and regular, as the senator sets out to call, with a manner and bearing that at once suggest senatorial dignity and courtesy. Such a bearing and dignity must perforce take the place of the impressive senatorial togetherness of the old days, and a visiting dramatist (a lady, to be sure) has suggested that it would be most fascinating to come to the senate on some holiday and find the distinguished gentlemen who now wear tweed and business suits attired in the Caesarian toga and mantle—a mise en scene that would leave Shakespeare's Julius Caesar at its best presentation hopelessly in the background.—Joe Mitchell Chapple in National Magazine.

Dreamland.
Most people sleep for about eight hours out of the daily twenty-four. That means they sleep one-third of each day, or one-third of their entire lives. And, according to many scientists, the whole time we are asleep we dream. We do not remember most of these dreams. Indeed, we remember only the very last one before we wake or some dream that is so vivid it wakes us. In other words, for one-third of our total lives we are dwelling in dreamland. And dreamland is a country of more utter absurdities, more grisly horrors, more fears, hopes, surprises and novelties than any land described by the most imaginative author. It is a land full of mystery, a land that science has for sixty centuries sought in vain to explore. It lies amid wholly unexplored regions of the human brain, regions which its possessor never saw.—New York World.

Titles.
"That is a remarkably distinguished family of yours."
"Yes," replied Mr. Mildman. "My wife is president of several societies. My eldest son is a captain in the Salvation Army and his brother is an officer in the boy scouts."
"And is there no special distinction for you?"
"Yes. I'm the only person in the house who is addressed as plain 'mister'."—Washington Star.

INSECT ANAESTHETICS.

Wasps and Bees Analyze Their Victims Before Killing.
That the sting of the wasp, which punctures the nerve centers of a captured caterpillar or spider, usually paralyzes the creature into helplessness rather than kills it is well known. The victim remains alive in the burrow or cell in which the wasp stores it as food for the larva which will emerge from the egg laid in the same cell. Therefore the newly hatched grub finds ready for it a provision of living meat instead of decayed carrion.
That "wizard" among entomologists, the venerable Fabre, has discovered a similar yet even more extraordinary fact in the history of the glowworm beetle (lampyris)—namely, that it anaesthetizes the prey upon which it itself feeds, so that it may consume it at leisure and predigest. This beetle whose brilliant phosphorescence attracts the eye in the dusk of the summer evenings, habitually hunts and seizes upon a certain small snail in order to eat it.
The curious thing is that the beetle anaesthetizes the mollusk at the first attack, preventing it from escaping by withdrawing to safety deep within its shell. Upon finding the snail the beetle dashes forward and, thrusting out its sharp, curved mandibles, repeatedly stabs the side of the body of its prey. After a few punctures the snail becomes insensible and remains in that deadened state for three or four hours—a time more than sufficient for the beetle to complete its meal.—Independent.

CAUGHT THE CAPTAIN.

He Was Not on the Early Morning Job, but the Kaiser Was.
Some time ago the kaiser heard that a captain in one of the guards regiments at Potsdam had fixed the regulation hour of schooling for his men at 6 o'clock in the morning. The kaiser, though doubting the fitness of such an early hour for the lesson and the ability of a popular young officer to keep up to this rather exacting standard of early rising, said nothing, but one day walked into the barrack room at 6 o'clock.
The captain was not there, but the emperor showed neither annoyance nor surprise. He asked where the lesson was to be found in the books, and without further ado, the mingled anxiety and delight of the men, he took the lesson in hand and explained the passage in history which was the subject of the day. It was nearly noon when the captain showed himself. The kaiser returned his salute and made allusion to his "strenuous summer" but handed him the lesson book, pointing out how far the class had got and then left the room.
Nothing more was said or done about the incident until a few days later, when the captain received a handsome alarm clock, explaining the kaiser. What the other officers' letters of thanks for the gift recorded. "Ireland's Own."

A Strenuous Scotsman.
Charles James Fox, the great statesman and sportsman, had something about a whisky bottle which could only be obtained in three ways: off to Dover by night, caught the mail packet, posted to Paris and, as was the custom, remembered he had a horse racing at Newmarket. He chartered a fishing boat bound for the western counties, just got to Newmarket in time for the race, took the post back to London and stopped on the way to dine. In the middle of the dinner he was caught by a special messenger who had been tearing over half of England in search of him and reminded that he had to move to bring in a marriage bill in the house of commons. He rushed to the stables, reached the house in time to make a brilliant speech in reply to North and Burke and defeated North on a division by a single vote.

Brick the Best Fireproof Material.
Studies of the ruins of conflagrations, as well as of many other fires, have shown conclusively that hard burned brick forms the most efficient fireproofing material we have at the present time. This seems to be due both to the homogeneous texture of brick and to its small size. The hardest burned brick may spall somewhat on the outer face, but the face next to the steel does not heat dangerously and the numerous joints relieve to a great degree the effects of expansion. Unfortunately, brick is the most expensive kind of fireproofing.—Engineering Magazine.

M. D. Samuels, one of the best known merchants of Seward Peninsula, has closed out his Nome store with the intention of engaging in the general merchandise business in Juneau.

A fine blanket of snow fell over the Yukon country from Selkirk northward on the 24th. Three inches on the ground at Dawson. If the temperature remains low enough to preserve this fall, it will make a fine starter for the winter's sleighing. Several inches more will be required to form good roads for the sleighs.

R. Jones, for many years purser on the various boats of the Pacific Coast Steamship company's fleet operating in Alaska, and whose many experience in wrecks made him as a "Jonah" until he quit superstitious sailors look upon the sea, has been promoted from the purchasing department in Seattle to the post of city passenger agent for the company at Tacoma.

"Alaska's coal lands lie untouched and unlimited supplies of fuel needed for the development of the resources of the country are withheld from proper and legitimate use because an obstructive rather than constructive policy has been forced upon the distant territory," declared Dr. W. R. Crane, head of the mining department of Pennsylvania in an address before the American Mining Congress.

The miners who stampeded from Fairbanks to the Chisana are greatly incensed over the numerous robberies of caches along the river. One man was absent from his cache only a few hours and returned to find it empty. Another man was robbed of his outfit which was unloaded from a steamer at Tanana Crossing and a miners meeting was held and every body searched. There are a number of Indians living in the district, but it is believed the thefts are the work of the white men.

Sam Crawford of Chehalis, Washington, tells of two former Fairbanksians who are now near his town and doing well. Ed. S. Orr, the former stage man, went to the farm in the hope of improving his health, which was falling fast, and has entirely recovered. He has a large farm near Curtis and is doing splendidly. L. P. Schumaker, former expressman and freighter of Fairbanks, has a farm adjoining that of Mr. Orr.

According to the Vancouver World of a recent issue, Sir Donald Mann has raised capital and will start work in the spring to extend the Portland Canal and Northwestern Railway. This road was started from a townsite near Stewart B. C. three years ago and was extended for fourteen mile up the Bear River and Bitter Creek. It is now planned to extend the road through the Peace River country and tap the Canadian Northern at Edmonton which will give the latter road a northern outlet so they can compete with the Grand Trunk Pacific.

Announcement

Pacific Fishermen takes pleasure in announcing the addition to its editorial staff of

John N. Cobb

Mr. Cobb was for many years connected with the United States Bureau of Fisheries and has a wide general knowledge of the commercial fisheries of the Pacific Coast.

He entered the service of the Bureau of Fisheries in 1895 and was engaged in field service until 1904, when he was appointed Assistant Agent of the Salmon Fisheries of Alaska.

Mr. Cobb is the author of many valuable government reports, such as "Salmon Fisheries of the Pacific Coast," etc. The scope of his work has included special investigations of the Fisheries of Maine,
North Carolina and the Hawaiian Island, but more particularly his work has had a direct bearing on the commercial fisheries of the Pacific Coast.

By training and experience Mr.
Cobb is particularly fitted for editorial work on the Pacific Fisherman and his addition to its staff is an important acquisition.

Seven days eight hours, the record for fast time from Nome to Seattle, was made by the steamer Victoria on her last trip.

Cruise of Tonic Has Bad Ending

The merry cruise of the Tonic came to a rather sad ending by breaking her shaft on the return trip just this side of Taku.

The Tonic left here two weeks ago with Dr. Dawes, J. J. Mc-Tague and C. Duffy on board bound for Juneau via Kake where they arrived without mishap and on the return trip broke a shaft just this side of Taku and drifted all day before being picked up by Olaf Olsen of Petersburg who towed them to Petersburg where the Tonic was left in the care of C. Duffy and Dr. Dawes and Mr. McTague returned from that place on the Spokane Sunday.

North Star Lunched Monday

The gas boat North Star which has been in the shop of "Chips" Cole for the past three months undergoing repairs and overhauling was launched Monday. The boat is leased by the Garnet Lodge and is 36 feet long 8 feet beam.

It is announced that the treasury of the Territory of Alaska contains $21,000 in cash.
This may seem small, but it should be remembered that Alaska has no debts.
